Bathed in autumn sunlight, this St. Louis house bids a beautiful welcome inside and out.

Though Bob and Sonja Willman's house, right, imitates a historic design, it certainly doesn't live in the past. The 65-year-old Georgian colonial gathers friendly traditional furnishings into a bright, livable family haven and extends gracious greetings to the Willmans' frequent guests. No room in this house is roped off, no furniture off limits. So when teatime is over and the dishes are cleared, the sofa pouf above becomes a site for sore feet.
